

The Glory in the Grey
By Archibald Alexander (1874-1942)

1

It sometimes happens, when we are dispirited, that God's gracious gift of reviving comes to us along a very ordinary channel--in the form, perhaps, of some tonic, heartening passage found in reading, or the "morning face" and cheerful greeting of a friend. That is often all that we need--when our hurt is not serious-- to send us back with a new zest and courage to our tasks; and that is the sort of usefulness which is desired for this book.

It does not pretend to deal with the great themes or the great hours of the religious life, but only with some of its simple encouragements and ideals for everyday. There is a wide difference between the far-off flash of guidance which the sailor steers by in the darkness, and the humbler lights on board which he sees to do his work. Yet he needs them both. (From the Preface)

Total running time: 6:20:11

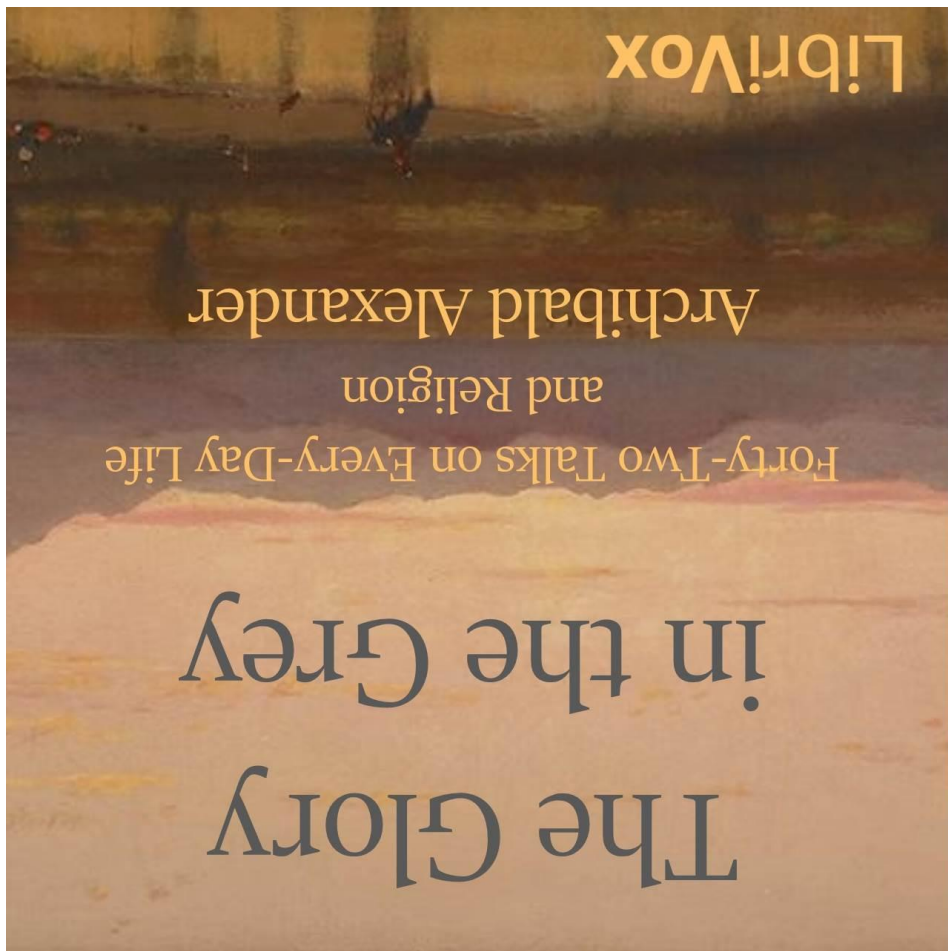

2

8

7

3

NOTE:
All these dots and numbers
wont'show once you fold
this case. See this Easy Folding Guide , also accessible in the LV Wiki,
CD Covers

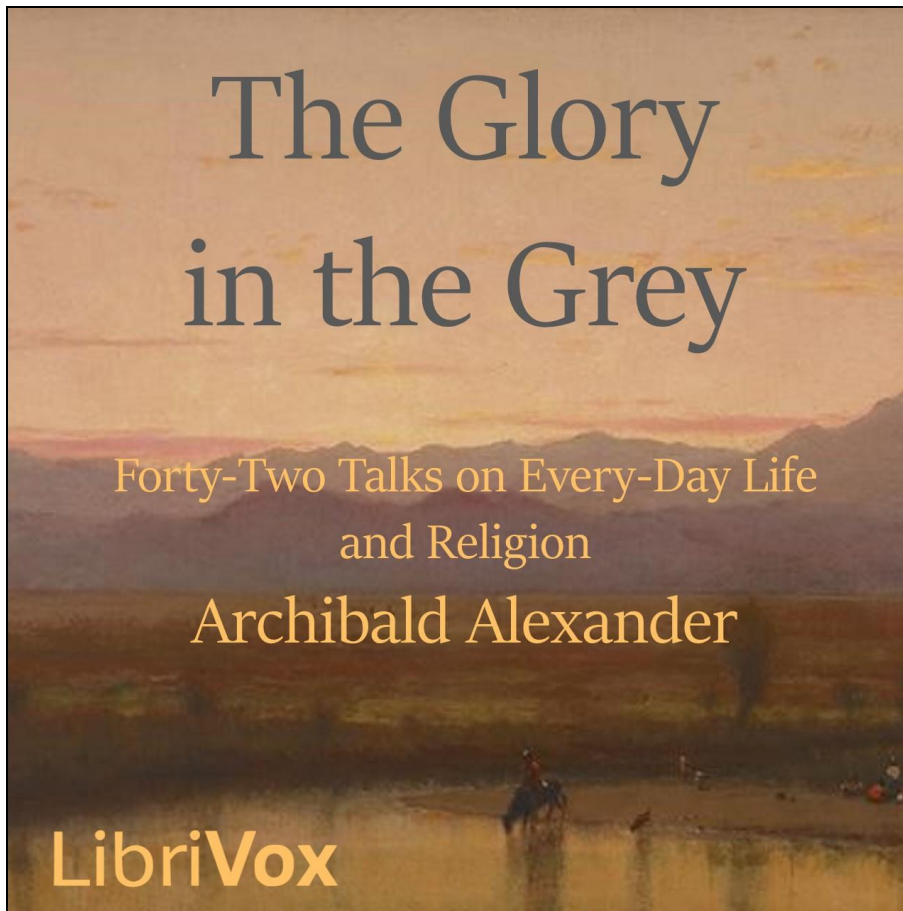

4

Cover design by MaryAnn Spiegel
Cover Art – Twilight on the Plains, Platte River, Colorado by Worthington Wittredge (~1867)
This recording and cover are in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission. For more information or to volunteer, visit www.LibriVox.org.

5

6

The Glory in the Grey – Archibald Alexander

The Glory in the Grey

By Archibald Alexander (1874-1942)

It sometimes happens, when we are dispirited, that God's gracious gift of reviving comes to us along a very ordinary channel--in the form, perhaps, of some tonic, heartening passage found in reading, or the "morning face" and cheerful greeting of a friend. That is often all that we need--when our hurt is not serious-- to send us back with a new zest and courage to our tasks; and that is the sort of usefulness which is desired for this book.

It does not pretend to deal with the great themes or the great hours of the religious life, but only with some of its simple encouragements and ideals for everyday. There is a wide difference between the far-off flash of guidance which the sailor steers by in the darkness, and the humbler lights on board which he sees to do his work. Yet he needs them both. (From the Preface)

Total running time: 6:20:11

Cover design by MaryAnn Spiegel; Cover Art – Twilight on the Plains, Platte River, Colorado by Worthington Wittredge (~1867)

This recording and cover are in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission. For more information or to volunteer, visit www.LibriVox.org.

The Glory in the Grey – Archibald Alexander